

Microdermabrasion DIAMOND TIP

The classic system uses crystals to peel off dead skin. The new diamond tipped microdermabrasion system uses diamonds. The result is far less disruptive because it polishes the skin. Lastly, the wand is far more accurate than the previous system. That means a more effective session in less time!

What skin types can use Diamond Tipped Microdermabrasion?

All skin types can benefit because it is so much gentler. It is also a great treatment for improving blackheads, oily or dull skin, dry patches, uneven skin tone, fine lines or wrinkles. It also treats enlarged or clogged pores, mild acne scars, sun damaged skin, and coarse skin texture. It also lightens age spots and hyper pigmentation.

BENEFITS OF diamond over crystal wand

It's a much softer media because it does not use a scratching method to exfoliate. Instead, it polishes the skin. The wand is also very controlled and precise, conforming to the contours of your skin for better results.

IPL PLUS MICRONEEDLING WITH PRP results

During a standard session, a provider uses a special roller or device with needles to prick the skin and stimulate new collagen production. Because of this, microneedling is also known as collagen induction therapy or percutaneous collagen induction.

Platelet-rich plasma (PRP), as an injection or topically, can be added to the session for an additional cost. It may improve the healing and decrease the duration of redness and swelling seen after microneedling.

BENEFITS OF microneedling

Traditional microneedling is used to treat everything from age spots and wrinkles to scarring and certain forms of hyperpigmentation. PRP may boost these effects and help you achieve your desired results faster.

Although microneedling can be used to treat scars and stretch marks on other areas of the body, most studies with PRP and scars seem to be focused on treatment of the face.

The term vampire facial is typically used to refer to microneedling with PRP used topically, afterward.

INTENSE PULSED LIGHT THERAPY results

Intense pulsed light (IPL) therapy, aka photofacial, is a way to improve the color and texture of your skin without surgery. It can undo some of the visible damage caused by sun exposure -- called photoaging.

HOW IPL works

IPL uses light energy to target a certain color in your skin.

When the skin is heated, your body gets rid of the unwanted cells, and that gets rid of the thing you're being treated for. Unlike lasers, an IPL device sends out more than one wavelength of pulsating light. It can treat a range of skin conditions at the same time.

After IPL, you may look younger because your skin tone is more even. And since the light doesn't hurt other tissue, you can get better quickly.
